

A complimentary program—a panel discussion on
The Immigration Ramifications of Brexit and the Trump Administration

April 19, 2017

Our panelists:

Carol Doughty

Scott FitzGerald

Ian Robinson

Ann Truett

The panel will address the potential impact on employers' ability to recruit and retain foreign talent

5:30-8:00 P.M.

The global impact of Brexit and the risk of elimination of NAFTA pose new challenges for multinational companies. We will be discussing recent immigration issues as they relate to companies engaged in international business as they plan for Brexit, and new initiatives under the Trump Administration, focusing on how companies can address the ever-changing global landscape.

Some of the topics the panel will discuss include:

- BREXIT: the short, intermediate, and long term effects.
- Beyond Brexit: the UK's immigration policy and service reforms.
- Pan-EU Immigration post-Brexit.
- Immigration under the Trump Administration: proposed changes to U.S. business immigration law and policy.
- What can companies do to shape the debate?
- How can we prepare for the future?

— Networking reception to follow —

Read more about this topic:

Fragomen: Immigration Benchmarking Report
brexit@fragomen.com

Location: Fragomen, Del Rey, Bernsen and Loewy, LLP, 100 High Street, Boston

About Fragomen Worldwide: (Fragomen) is the world's leading single-focus provider of immigration services and support. Our firm is comprised of law practices and immigration consultancies that work together to support our clients across all regions globally. At Fragomen, we leverage our collective immigration experience to offer clients targeted and trusted solutions that help them achieve their local, regional and worldwide business goals.

RSVP online by April 12 @ www.babcne.org

Complimentary program.

Reservations are a must. Space is limited. Please rsvp as soon as possible.

Follow the BABCNE on

The Immigration Ramifications of Brexit and the Trump Administration

Panelists Bios:

Carol Doughty is the Regional Director for UK Visas and Immigration (UKVI), Americas. Operating in this role since 2015, Carol is based at the British Consulate General in New York. UKVI is part of the UK Home Office and is one of three operational commands responsible for managing the United Kingdom's border and immigration systems. Carol is responsible for the operational delivery of UK visa services across USA, Canada, Central and South America and the Caribbean. Prior to this role, Carol has served in key positions for the Home Office in India, Pakistan, Africa and UAE. She has extensive global experience in delivering professional and efficient visa services balancing the needs of the customer and other stakeholders with the need to implement an effective immigration control.

Carol is a graduate of the London School of Economics and Political Science.

Scott J. FitzGerald is the Managing Partner of the Boston office of Fragomen Worldwide and a Managing Director of Fragomen Immigration Services India Pvt., Ltd.

Scott is a Board Member of the British American Business Council of New England (BABCNE) and the Council for Emerging National Security Affairs (CENSA). He is also a member of the Labor Relations Committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and the U.S. India Business Council. He lectures and writes frequently on business immigration issues, and is an Adjunct Professor of Immigration Law at Boston College Law School.

Scott is admitted to practice law in Massachusetts, New York, Connecticut and Washington D.C., and he is a graduate of the Johns Hopkins University (B.A., International Studies) and Fordham University School of Law (J.D.).

Ian Robinson is a Partner in Fragomen Worldwide's London office where he focuses on UK immigration, supporting businesses across a range of sectors, including IT, energy, professional services and London's burgeoning tech community. Ian also manages Fragomen's UK Government Strategies Practice. He works with decision makers in and around government, helping key people understand how the immigration system can better support business.

Before joining Fragomen, Ian spent eight years at the Home Office working on contentious migration and criminal justice policies, including the development and oversight of the UK's economic migration policy. Ian was awarded a Bachelor of Law and Politics with honours in 2000.

Ann Truett is a Partner in Fragomen Worldwide's Boston office. Ann has extensive experience in global immigration, international taxation and consulting on all aspects of international human resources and global mobility issues. She represents a wide range of clients focusing on all aspects of employment-based immigration, policy design and immigration program management.

Ann manages teams of immigration professionals worldwide for major corporate clients in a variety of industries, including financial services, technology, consulting and energy. She advises clients on compliance with immigration laws and regulations, and provides strategic guidance on the deployment of personnel to developed and emerging markets in all regions.

Follow the BABCNE on

